Observations...

By the Editor

The national democratic committee refused to seat former lieutenant-governor J. B. Snider of Bay St. Louis and Mrs. Hermes Gautier, of Pascagoula, national committeeman and committeewoman of Mississippi... they also refused to seat the pro-Truman delegation... well for once we democrats are in a dither... we will probably have some more legislation on the matter which will complicate the situation all the more... they will keep on amending the election laws until we will be legislated into full-fledged republicans... to be perfectly frank the states' right movement is probably motivated by this thought... the boys in charge just lacked the courage to declare themselves... and of course the race question was the easiest method to use to arouse the voters to action against the democratic nominee... all is quiet along the political battlefield in Waveland... no front page stuff this past week... before and after a storm there is always a calm... save your fight for the election ladies and gentlemen, and continue working to build your town... Junior Breath is sponsoring outboard motor boat races this Sunday at the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club site... many entries have been received and this will be quite an event and will probably mean the revival of motor boat racing... and by the way there are still two trophies to be purchased... would you like to give one, if so, contact Junior... the beach road will soon become a reality... the fill in front of the church and convent is practically completed... not such a tremendous task as it was first thought... September 6 and 7 will see our school children back at their task for another 9 months... 5 high schools in Bay St. Louis, quite something for a town of 5000 people... the work on the Bay-Waveland Yacht Club is progressing and it will not be long before John Bell will be able to say, "Here it is, Boys"... the city commissioners are to be complimented for having repaired the street between the post office and the Baptist church... and by the way we are on this subject... what is the name of this street? does it have one? if not there is another job for the commissioners... and while we have you on our mind, Mr. Commissioners, wouldn't it be a splendid move to encourage some of our property owners to at least clean up their sidewalks... there are some spots on Main Street where the weeds have grown up on both sides of the walk and it is impossible for more than one person to walk through and then they must weave their way.

CITY SCHOOLS OPEN FRIDAY, SEPT. 2

The Bay St. Louis city schools will open Friday, September 2 at 9 a. m. for organization, classification and assignments of books. Regular class work will be given at 9 a. m. Tuesday, September 6. The Taylor school will resume class work on this date. Mrs. Warren Traub is principal succeeding Mrs. W. W. Stockstill who has retired from teaching.

Kenneth Arnold Hilley, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Edward Hilley, was christened at Christ Episcopal Church Sunday, August 14, Rev. C. R. Johnson officiating. Sponsors were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cooper of this city and Miss Jo Teyman of New Orleans.

CONCRETE BRIDGE FOR BAY OF ST. LOUIS AND NEW HIGHWAY 90 ARE SOUGHT

Construction of a concrete bridge across the Bay of St. Louis and a six-lane highway 90 will be considered by a special session of the Mississippi legislature which may meet in October, according to Rep. Reece Bickerstaff of Gulfport.

Speaking before the Coast Council of the Chamber of Commerce in Pass Christian, Tuesday night, Rep. Bickerstaff, chairman of the house committee on highways, said a complete highway 90 project will be high on the list of business brought before the special session.

STATISTICS SHOW
Dan M. Russell, Jr., president of the council, pointed out the extreme need for a concrete bridge. Statistics show that an average of 8,400 automobiles cross the Bay bridge every day. "This much traffic deserves a bridge that won't burn out every year or so," he declared. The Bay bridge has been damaged by fire twice during the last two years.

In order to finance the proposal construction, Rep. Bickerstaff recommended issuance of six million dollars in bonds every six months. Within ten years this would total $120,000,000, and the bonds could be retired in 20 years. Federal funds in equal amounts could be obtained to match the state funds, he said.

WILL INTRODUCE BILL
The representative estimates that the cost of constructing the type of bridge desired would cost four to five million dollars for a four-lane span and three to three and a half million for a two-lane span. Mr. Bickerstaff stated that he would introduce legislation at the special session which would make this plan possible.

Another possible method of financing construction of the new passage across the Bay St. Louis would be construction of a toll bridge. Legislation permitting such a structure would have to be passed, however. Such a plan was advanced by Dr. D. G. Rafferty, former Mayor of Pass Christian, who had, as mayor, protested construction of the present bridge as a wooden structure.

GETS SUPPORT
State Senator R. B. Meadows, Jr., of Gulfport and Rep. Hermes Gautier of Jackson county were also present at the meeting.

Senator Meadows declared that he would support the council in its efforts toward furthering the bridge construction and highway repairs. He also suggested that the group prepare a pamphlet containing facts and figures on the work desired and send it to the legislature with a resolution stating the need for the new construction and maintenance program.

SELLING JOB
T. T. Robin, president of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce, was also present. He pointed out that highway 90 is the most travelled highway in Mississippi and has received less attention and least major construction from the state than any other major route in the state.

People along the Coast must do a major selling job to the legislature in order to get the needed help for this highway, he stated.

Citing statistics, Mr. Robin points out that highway 90 is the shortest route through the state and the rate of traffic increase on the highway exceeds the increase on any other Mississippi road.

Mr. and Mrs. N. L. Carter will entertain at their home Sunday at an all-day picnic complimentary to their nephew, William Andrew Meyer, and his fiancée, Miss Ann Stringer, both of New Orleans who will be married in that city Sept. 9.

$203,000 Building Permits Issued In Bay St. Louis This Year, Records Show

Two hundred and three thousand dollars in building permits have been issued by the city of Bay St. Louis since January 3, 1949, Sylvan J. Ladner, Jr., commissioner of public utilities, said yesterday.

This, of course, is a healthy sign of progress, the commissioner admitted, but indicated that this figure was not complete since many buildings are being repaired or erected for which no permit has been received. "Ordinance number 12, adopted March 4, 1929, specifically states that owners, agents, or contractors must secure these permits before undertaking the erection, alteration, or repair of any building in the city," the commissioner added.

These permits may be obtained from the commissioner of public utilities at the City Hall. Failure to comply with this ordinance makes the violator liable for $25 fine. "We are asking the people please to cooperate with us and to secure permits before beginning construction, alteration or repair work," Commissioner Ladner concluded.

It is imperative that the commissioner of public utilities keep tabs on all building and repair work in the city since the receipts of these permits are used in equalizing labor assessments. The receipts are also used by the commissioner in preparing his monthly reports to the bureau of labor statistics in the U. S. Department of Labor.

Onward Campers End 23rd Season On Gulf Coast

Kingsley House, a neighborhood settlement composed primarily of folks from New Orleans' Irish Channel, closed its annual camp season Monday at Camp Onward four miles south of Bay St. Louis on the beach.

Approximately 70 persons attended the last of four camp sessions. This last session began August 9, and was made up mainly of family groups, said Harold B. Olson, camp director. Other sessions were for varying age groups from nursery to teen-agers.

In New Orleans, Kingsley House is located at 1600 Constance St. and though most of its members hail from the tenth and eleventh wards which is the Irish Channel, the group is not restricted and there are many members from all sections of the city.

Kingsley House is an entity in itself, Mr. Olson stated, and sponsors many activities, civic and recreational, all each year. The New Orleans organization is, however, a member of the International Federation of Settlements.

Well over 50 years old, Kingsley House has sponsored camps on the Gulf Coast for the past 23 years. With present facilities at Camp Onward, some 50 to 85 guests can be accommodated.

Rev. and Mrs. John T. Dearing and children have returned from a two weeks vacation spent with their parents at Pine Bluff, Ark. Mr. Dearing will conduct both morning and evening services at the First Baptist church Sunday, August 28.

Dirt Galore . . .

... piles in along the Beach front at the points where the construction crew is now making repairs. At the present time work in progress in front of Our Lady of the Gulf Church, where the road bed is being built up to its former level. As of Wednesday, 10,525 cubic yards of dirt fill have gone into the repair work. Weather permitting, the fill will be in place well ahead of schedule as set by the contractor and engineer.

Ruscoe Named Bay High Band Director For 1949-50

W. W. Ruscoe will direct the Bay High band during the 1949-1950 season, replacing George Wimberly who has held this position for the past two years, according to S. J. Ingram, superintendent of city schools.

Mr. Ruscoe was born in Carrollton, Miss., where he finished his musical career in junior high school with the saxophone, he advanced to the position of assistant band director in the school before graduation. After completing junior college he entered Mississippi college at Clinton where he was again chosen assistant band director and also leader of the popular orchestra on the campus.

WITH NAME BANDS
At the completion of his college work he directed bands in several high schools in Mississippi. His band at Florida won the state championship in the Musical Festivals of 1941.

While Mr. Ruscoe was doing advance work in Chicago, he played with several orchestras in that area such as Cummins, Ray Herbeck, Bobby Baker, Les Brown, Gordon Gray, Billie Rogers and others. He later formed his own band under the billing of Tony Ruscoe and Orchestras.

Mrs. Vairin was a native of New Orleans and was a daughter of the late Edwin Humphries and Catherine Napier. She and her husband, the late James W. Vairin came to Bay St. Louis 60 years ago and made this their home. Mr. Vairin died in 1934.

Her funeral was held Wednesday morning from the Fahey Funeral Home with the rites of the Episcopal church conducted by Rev. Willet Clark, pastor of Trinity Episcopal church. Pallbearers were her five sons George H., Edwin W., and Horace H. all of Bay St. Louis; Allen R. of New Orleans and James N. Vairin of Los Angeles.

Surviving are the five sons mentioned, six grandchildren and four great grandchildren.

State Seeks Reduction Of Traffic Accident Rate

Mississippi needs the help of every citizen in one of our state's most challenging undertakings—the reduction of traffic accidents and promotion of order on our streets and highways, according to a statement from the Governor's office.

After considering programs established in several other states, the state government and interested citizens are undertaking to organize and begin the development of a competent, long range highway safety program in Mississippi. "In connection with these plans I have called Mississippi's first annual Highway Safety Conference to meet in Jackson on October 7 in the Victory Room of the Heidelberg Hotel," Governor Fielding Wright said.

This conference will consider: (a) Formulating a comprehensive plan for highway safety in the state, such program to be submitted for approval to the conference by citizens' committees working with state officials having highway safety responsibilities; (b) Organizing the Mississippi Safety Council, composed of interested citizens and dedicated to the task of marshaling and maintaining state-wide understanding and support for the undertaking.

"Unusual interest has already been shown by all members of the various working committees and numerous citizens. It is most gratifying to see our people joining hands in this crusade for safety. My sincere hope is that at the conference we will have the participation of every citizen interested in safety who can attend," Gov. Wright continued.

Lives can be saved by a sound safety program which makes all our people safety conscious. Safety programs have worked successfully in many other states, with a resultant saving of lives and prevention of suffering and economic loss. As an example, following the adoption of a highway safety program in our neighboring state of Tennessee, in 1948 there was a saving of 168 lives, reduction of economic loss, approximately ten million dollars, he pointed out.

Auditor's Suit Is Filed Against Former Council

Seeking return of some $90,000 allegedly misappropriated by the former members of the commission council, attorneys for State Auditor Carl N. Craig and Bay St. Louis City Attorney Dan M. Russell, Jr., filed suit Saturday in Hancock County Chancery Court.

FOUR NAMED
Four defendants were cited in the bill of complaint. They are G. Y. Blaize, Sr., former mayor of Bay St. Louis, H. Gray Peckins, former commissioner of public utilities and William L. Burgess, former finance commissioner and city tax collector, and the United States Fidelity and Guaranty Co., of Baltimore, surety on the officials' bonds.

Cause of complaint came from findings of Auditor Craig who delved into the city's transactions for the period October 1, 1944 to March 31, 1948, following the request of 20 percent of the qualified voters of the city that such an audit be made. He found during the investigation that certain amounts were due the City of Bay St. Louis by the former officials and that certain allowances, collections, and expenditures had been unlawfully made, and made without authority of law and misappropriated by the Mayor, commissioners and tax collector.

ITEMS LISTED
"The commission council, according to the suit, is held jointly responsible for several items listed in the suit including purchases in the amount of $2505 for articles not authorized by law; purchase of $172.05 worth of fireworks; payment of insurance premiums on private automobiles in the amount of $435.07; $29,000 from the sale of a bond issue on December 22, 1946 which was paid the Hancock Gravel Co., and the Asphalt Paving Co., the day after the sale.

In all, including interests on the above mentioned and other items, the former commissioners are held responsible for, and repayment is sought of $45,311.32.

NO DEPOSITS
"W. L. Bourgeois, as tax collector is held individually responsible for $33,502.21 which amount includes ad valorem taxes collected, but not deposited in the city treasury; $6,506 in water rentals collected but not deposited in the city treasury; and interest at the rate of six per cent per annum on the above amounts, he is also liable for penalties in the amount of $6,229.89, the bill of complaint stated.

The United States Fidelity and Guaranty Co. holds surety on the former commissioners in the amount of $5,000 each plus $9,000 bond on Mr. Bourgeois as tax collector. This totals $29,000. The former officials were bonded by this same company during both terms of office during which the alleged misappropriations occurred.

COUNTY VISITED BY RADIO STATION WWL FARM DEPARTMENT

Radio Station WWL paid Hancock county a visit Wednesday. George Shannon and Francis Jacob, who represent the farm department for WWL, interviewed several farmers as to the advantages of using basic slag for pasture improvement and one man, Edward Price Bell, who has the unusual occupation of raising silkworms on his place in Kilm.

The radio men, made recordings of their interviews with these people to be used on the early morning farm programs.

A GOOD COUNTY AGENT AN ASSET TO ANY COUNTY

"County Agent C. C. Stone was awarded a distinguished service cross for his outstanding work at Farm and Home Week at State College last week," the editor of The Crystal Springs Meteor notes in his column this week. "There were six of these awards made in the state. So Copiah should be proud to have one of the best County Agents."

Any Mississippi county with a County Agent capable of winning such state wide recognition for outstanding work has good reason to be "proud" of him. As far as that goes, on the record, we think the great majority of Mississippi counties have good reason to be proud of and to cherish their County Agents, who are doing a good job. A capable, energetic, enthusiastic County Agent is one of the most valuable of the assets any county has and, in most counties, he ranks high on the list of most valuable citizens."—Clarion Ledger—Jackson, Miss., August 15, 1949.

Editor's note:

Charlie Stone served as County Agent in Hancock county for a number of years, and not to detract from his energetic and capable successor, Mr. Howard Simmons, we must truthfully say that we, together with many others in the County regretted to see Charlie leave to go to Copiah county.

He had endeared himself to the people with whom he worked. Pleasant, affable, capable, he knew how to meet people and having been raised on a farm in old Itawamba county, he knew what it was all about.

If the truth were known, Charlie hated to leave here but as any progressive young man would do, he could not refuse a promotion.

The people of Hancock county are as happy over his accomplishments as are his new-found friends in Copiah.

FOOD FOR THOUGHT

We are firmly convinced that the average person in Hancock County is interested in building a bigger and better county. We are convinced that our business men visualize its importance.

This county has grown in population and in wealth during the last few years. Buildings are mushrooming throughout its area. New people are coming into our midst and certainly there must be something worthwhile attracting them. Yet, there is something lacking.

There is not enough opportunity for the average person to earn a livelihood. It is going to be necessary that this be made possible. How? We have many natural resources in Hancock County and certainly it should not be hard to ascertain their possibilities. Research should be made to bring out the value of forestry and seafood, and of our locality for summer vacationists. A little time and effort to establish these facts would probably prove very beneficial. We can then set out to develop a program. We will have something to sell.

A jack-in-the-box attitude jumping hither and thither, with only letter writing will not bring results. Sound thinking, the exercising of good judgment with facts and proven theories brought before men of vision would probably bring to Hancock County that which we need most of all, adequate payrolls.

In addition to developing a bit industrially, our business people should also become more interested in the dairy development which is taking place in our rural sections. This enterprise means many hundreds of thousands of dollars in income to the people of the rural sections of the county. A composite figure of the wealth of the dairymen of Hancock County, would startle even the most nonchalant businessman. The purchasing power of these dairymen is tremendous. Our rural section can be made our greatest trade area.

Some more food for thought. A coordinated program with the interest of our rural and urban people as the dominant factor would also help build a bigger and better Hancock County. These objectives are not possible unless the businessmen of Hancock County move forward and accept their responsibility. It is impossible to carry through a definite program without an organized effort.

The Hancock County Chamber of Commerce is the medium through which the efforts of the business men of the county should be exerted.

The hope that we will have a bigger and better Hancock County will not bring this about, it is going to take thought and action.

LETTERS

NEXT SHERIFF SAYS

TO THE EDITOR:

In reply to the writeup by Mr. Armand J. Scully, against the law enforcement officers of Hancock county, Mississippi, I wish to make the following statements in the defense of all law enforcing officers of this section, and, particularly myself:

First, I wish to state that if in his way of thinking he still believes that there are "Easy Money Boys" in Hancock County, Miss. to just take it upon himself to violate a few of our laws and that will be the very easiest way to be convinced if we are out here for easy money or out to enforce the law.

Again, I want to say that we are not out here to merely enforce the laws on one individual but that the laws apply to all and I feel that it is the sworn duty of every officer to carry out his duties to the letter of the law. If you don't believe that Deputy Sheriff, W. A. "Bill" Johnson, is not fulfilling his duties as a law enforcement officer you are advised not to violate any in the area assigned by my patrol. I am on the job at all times and as far as enforcement, it has just begun. We are going to bear down stronger than ever on violators such as reckless drivers, drunken drivers, and speedsters.

I wish to state here to Mr. Scully that I am a candidate for sheriff and those who are now criticizing better get in line.

A word or two to the people who claim to be boosters of Hancock county. What have you accomplished with your type of boosting? We did have a garment factory here that employed quite a number of the ladies; we also had a creamery and a seafood factory that employed several hundred men and women. Can you tell us, Mr. Booster, why they left? Why, because the whistle was too loud, and now, you can sleep, sleep, for the noise is gone. If you really want to be a booster start it with employment for the working class of people who are the back-bone of our county.

I strongly believe in good boosting but we must first have employment, bring factories here and keep them here, not run them off with the type of boosting you have been giving. Further, I want you to know that I strongly feel that I will be your next sheriff and that the laws will be enforced and that there will be no "Easy Money Boys" as you now charge.

To our visitors, particularly the good people of New Orleans, I want to assure you that you will always be protected under the laws and that I will give personal attention to any complaints, no matter what the charge, and guarantee that the laws of Justice will be carried out.

Deputy Sheriff W. A. "Bill" Johnson.

We Cut Down The Hedges —And Accidents!

Hedges have been shooting up like weeds, lately, along Main Street. They've turned into real traffic hazards. Drivers at the corners couldn't see stop lights or the approaching cars.

After one accident and a couple of near-misses, the Town Council decided to have a hedge-trimming bee—cut them all to size at once. We held the bee on Saturday. No one had to come, but it seemed like every man in town was out with shears and clippers. Women kept passing out sandwiches and cool glasses of ice-water and beer.

From where I sit (on my front porch)—looking out over neat, trim hedges—it just shows what folks can accomplish for their own good when they work together. The Brewers work with beer retailers in the same way in their Self-Regulation program. They cooperate in keeping their places neat and spruced up—cutting out "dead wood" and making sure they stay "in the clear."

TEST QUALITY YOURSELF

Often there are simple tests by which the homemaker can determine the quality of things she uses daily.

For example, are you eating steel from your can opener. Many can openers, both of the cheap variety and the extensive "trick" kind, permit slivers of "tin," actually tinned steel, to fall into the can's contents during the process of opening.

To test a can opener, open a can of food and empty the contents. Then wash and dry the can carefully.

Holding the can firmly upon a sheet of white paper, with the opened end down, open the other or "bottom" end of the can with the can opener.

Any shivers of metal released by cutting will this time fall upon the paper where they will be readily seen when the can is removed. If more than the barest amount of the tinned steel shows on the paper, the can opener is not giving the grade of performance that is possible and desirable.

Stainless steel cutlery can also be tested for quality.

Good stainless steel knives can be left in water in a metallic pan for a period of 48 hours without showing any evidence of corrosion. On the other hand, poor quality stainless steel will show corrosive spots in a few hours.

If a kitchen knife of stainless steel is of a quality good enough to hold a sharp edge pressure with the point of the blade of a good knife will not scratch it. A soft low-carbon stainless steel knife can be scratched with ease. A blade which retains a keen cutting edge is made of steel of high carbon content.

The customer who uses these tests may find that quality is not necessarily related to price.

A third thing that may be tested is household oil, such as is used to oil sewing machines, hinges, vacuum cleaners and washing machines. Immerse a small strip of copper in the oil for three days. If the copper becomes discolored, the oil is of a type which in use will do more harm than good.

GARDEN JOBS

Gardening is always "in season." Many home gardeners who are completing a successful period of summer gardening still have plenty of jobs that are timely.

For example, with the good vegetable production most people are experiencing, it is well to remember that a number of vegetables can be stored during the winter. The list includes, cabbage, beets, carrots, onions, potatoes, pepper, pumpkin, sweet potatoes, rutabagas, turnips and tomatoes.

Home demonstration agents have copies of Extension Circular No. 124, "Successful Home Food Storage."

Summer crops such as pepper, pole beans, okra and tomatoes can be made to bear longer by regular harvesting, watering and mulching.

Use fertilizer before planting fall crops. Add four to five pounds of 5-10-5 per 100 feet. Do this 10 days before planting and work it well into the soil.

Well-rotted barnyard manure can also be added to soil before planting.

Continue to save a seed supply for next year. Before storage, treat pea and bean seed for weevils.

Start a compost pit or add to the old one for use next year.

Harvest garden soybeans when the pods are yellowish-brown in color.

Watch for "bugs" which are still in the garden. Also, if water is available, continue to apply it to the garden weekly during droughty periods. Keep plants free of grass and weeds.

Remove old plants and vines when one crop is over and plant another. Keep every row planted.

FOOTINGS FOR FARM BUILDINGS

A new building, whether large or small, may settle unless it has adequate footing. So plan farm buildings below as well as above the ground level.

Footings are often of concrete. They should be placed to a depth where the swelling and shrinking of the ground because of moisture changes will not cause heaving.

For small and moderate-sized farm buildings, make footings about eight inches thick and 15 inches wide. Large buildings require footings about 12 inches thick and 24 inches wide.

In building eight-inch footings, use forms made of two-by-eights braced with two-by-four stakes. Use a carpenter's or mason's level to make certain that the footing is level all the way around.

The mix is made of one sack of cement, six gallons of water, about two and three-fourths cubic feet of sand and four cubic feet of gravel or crushed rock. This should produce a mushy mix.

If the mix is soupy, add more sand and gravel. If it is too thick to work well, cut down the sand and gravel until a workable mix is obtained. Do not add more than six gallons of mixing water per sack of cement when the sand used is in a moist condition.

Tamp the concrete as it is placed in the forms. Strike it off with a broad resting on the edges of the forms.

DAIRY MANAGEMENT TIPS

Dairymen who have not already done so should prepare for late fall and winter grazing crops. With most dairymen, successful winter grazing crops mean the difference between good winter production and a lot of dry or nearly dry cows to feed during the winter.

Be on time with preparing the seedbed, planting, mineralizing and seeding. Then do not graze too early nor too closely.

Winter is not too far away to make plans now for sheltering the entire herd. This is a good time to make any needed repairs on the barn. A separate barn for the calves and young heifers should be considered.

Continue spraying flies according to directions from the county agent. The fewer flies that carry over throughout the winter, the smaller the early crop next spring. Flies can eat up the profit from a dairy herd.

Do not let production slide down too rapidly on cows not due to dry off for a few months. A little extra roughage, a little extra grain, is needed, may pay well in the long run.

Raise Tree In Yacht Club Christening

The Bay-Waveland Yacht club was christened Friday afternoon with the raising of the traditional tree atop the frame work for the building.

In the picture above can be noted the progress made in the construction of the club. Work may be completed by October 15, Contractor John Bell, says, and the club should be ready for the formal opening November 1.

At the ceremony Friday, the tree was placed at a point some 25 feet above the ground, which point marks the highest part of the new $20,000 structure.

Many of the charter members of the Yacht club attended the christening. Drinks for the construction crew and guests were supplied by the contractor.

Mr. Bell says that some money is still needed in order to complete the harbor facilities. The club itself, however, can be finished and furnished completely with the funds on hand. All who have pledged support of the club are being urged to mail their checks in immediately.

Cards To Conduct Tryouts At Keesler Field Diamond

Biloxi, Miss.—The St. Louis Cardinals have announced that they will conduct a baseball try-out camp here again this year, September 2 and 3. They have selected the Keesler Field baseball diamond as the location for their camp, brought here through the efforts of Anthony V. Ragusin of the local Chamber of Commerce and Lt. Nick Stam of Keesler Field.

Cardinal scouts Buddy Lewis, Jerry Katherman and George Kobay will be here to supervise the workouts, which will get under way at 11 o'clock each morning and continue until the early afternoon hours. Highlighting activities will be games between teams made up of those boys in attendance at the camp. During these games, the scouts will have the opportunity to watch each player as he takes his turn at bat and in the field. Particular attention will be directed toward the pitchers and their fast and curve balls. Preceding the games will be drills in fielding and throwing for the outfielders and infielders.

All phases of the camp activities will be open free to any players 17 to 23 years of age who aspire to careers in professional baseball. Those planning to attend the camp are reminded to bring their own baseball shoes and gloves, and uniforms if they have them, for the Cardinals do not supply that type equipment for their trial camps. Any expenses incident to attending the camp will be refunded in full to players signing contracts with any of the 21 minor league clubs comprising the famous Cardinal farm system.

Realistic Picture Helps State Fight Venereal Diseases

Something new even to the makers of motion pictures has been done.

Mississippi has produced an excellent movie of her own, using her own people in their own communities. No professionals appear; the actors and players could be your own friends and neighbors, and in that sense the picture may be said to have a real all-star cast. The story is a typical one. The main characters Roy and Irma, Jim and Ruby, the various groups in church or in the dance hall, the families, and the whole setting will be familiar. The photography is beautiful, and the development of scenes and action is logical.

This picture was produced by the division of Preventable Disease Control of the Mississippi State Board of Health. Many people worked on it—the actual "shooting" took over three months, and more months were required to synchronize and get the film ready for showing.

"Feeling All Right," this new film, is an up-to-date, fast-moving story well played by Mississippi Negroes and brings to light graphically and very realistically the need for greater enlightenment about one of our greatest problems: syphilis. It presents forcibly and interestingly the danger of misinformation about the disease. It shows how effective, adequate treatment may be secured and the happiness that follows as a result.

There are no "horror" angles, no implied threats of unavoidable consequences—on the contrary, the whole theme is one of hope and good news about a disease that has incapacitated and eventually killed far too many people in the past. It stresses the importance of correct diagnosis, early discovery and proper treatment, and the ease and quickness with which recovery may be brought about through modern methods.

Those who took part in the drama worked hard and long to produce this film and have just cause for pride in an excellent job.

Enough copies have been purchased to make it available to practically every community in the state, through the board of health and county health departments. It will be shown free.

It is interesting to note that over 150,000 Mississippians have viewed the film in the past few weeks.

As it took community action and public interest generally to successfully control other communicable diseases, it will also take such action to successfully conquer syphilis and control the spread of this killer. The instance of the building of the Panama Canal focussed the national attention of the scourge of yellow fever and soon that disease was under control. It was during the recent World War that national attention was brought to bear on the high incidence of syphilis and gonorrhea in the United States and how it affected the youth of our land. Much progress has been made since then to control this disease. But to do so effectively it must be faced as a community problem with the general public understanding the symptoms, treatment, and the seriousness of the disease itself. Then and then only can syphilis be brought under control. The boys in Mississippi who were called up for service showed that one out of every four of them was infected with syphilis. This figure appalled the state as a whole and a campaign was then mapped out to remove this unnecessary misery from the state.

The two weapons in the fight against syphilis are penicillin and publicity. Both are being used as extensively as possible today and both will enable us to successfully complete the fight against syphilis if your wholehearted support is given the program.

This ends the series prepared by the state health department as a part of the combat against venereal disease. For further information concerning these communicable diseases contact the state board of health or consult the family physician.

Lady 73 Years Old Takes B. A. Degree In Hospital At Ole Miss

University, Miss.—The desire to become a graduate of the University of Mississippi became a reality this week for 73-year-old Mrs. Kate Logan Bennett of Lake Cormorant.

Last week end when Mrs. Bennett was taken to the University hospital, it was felt that pneumonia would keep her from taking part in Friday's commencement exercises. The gray haired lady recovered, however, so rapidly that university officials staged a special ceremony for her in the hospital.

Wednesday the nurses helped Mrs. Bennett into a neatly pressed cap and gown, and she received the bachelor of arts in education degree from Chancellor J. D. Williams.

"I consider this a memorial to my husband, who told me just before his death 10 years ago, 'I want you to go on and get your degree,'" she said.

And that she did. By the summer of 1943 she had earned enough credits at three Tennessee colleges to be able to enter Ole Miss as a junior. Except for last summer when illness kept her out of school, Mrs. Bennett had been returning to the university ever since.

Mrs. Bennett's desire for a college education dates back to 1908 when she took some summer school courses here so that she could get a teacher's license. Then on May 27, 1914, she married the Rev. E. M. Bennett, a Methodist minister, and for the next 25 years she accompanied him as a minister's wife to various communities in this area, filling in from time to time as first grade teacher in the local schools when vacancies occurred.

His pulpits included those at Longtown near Crenshaw (Panola

More and Better
Telephone Service for Mississippi

FAMILIAR SIGHTS in the cities, towns and rural sections of Mississippi are telephone folks building new facilities to make your telephone service bigger and better.

New buildings being erected . . . new central office facilities being installed . . . more poles, more cable going into use . . . more and more of what it takes to improve and enlarge the telephone network so vitally important to the growth and prosperity of the state.

Our postwar program of construction of new facilities is the largest in the history of the state. And it is producing abundant results—providing telephones for more and more people, improving service for all telephone users.

The demand for telephone service has been several times greater than before the war. So has our construction program to meet that demand! And all this expanding activity is focused on a single goal—to give the people of Mississippi the finest telephone service it is possible to provide.
